

Education

One of our biggest problems

graduates of the public schools in the area aren't sufficiently educated.

The businessmen, who were also Rotarians, generally agreed that while the lack of housing was the biggest single problem they faced in recruiting personnel, education was the second largest problem.

Lowell called on Roy Burch of Royal's Department Stores, Robert Roessler of Quaker Oats, and John Turnbull of Florida First National Bank in Belle Glade. All three said education is a problem because the public schools have such a poor reputation and because too many graduates from Glades Central are unqualified to hire.

"Housing is the biggest problem," Burch said, "but schools are a real problem too. The public schools are off-set by the private schools but we also have to sometimes pay a supplement to employees to go for private

BELLE GLADE-Glades Central High School teacher Sam Lowell made comments from several businessmen during his address at the Belle Glade Rotary Club on April 4 to illustrate his point that

VRROOOMM! VRROOOMM! So who says imagination is dead and it takes all kinds of expensive toys to keep today's kids happy? What it takes, see, is the materials for filling in your lawn, or Robert Mathews' lawn anyway, and Mark Frier, Scott Smalley, Royal Hayes and Lazaro Ruiz were able to put Melisa Hill and Taryn Kent in the sandmobile of their dreams. All it took was a couple hours worth of patience waiting on the sand to be sculpted around them and for the photographer to arrive.

The county is asking the state to provide all the extra funds except for the child care center. If the state refuses that request, the county is requesting the state to pay for half the unexpected cost, $579,375 to the board paying the other half.

The extra money the county would have to pay under the BELLE GLADE-Glades Central and Pahokee High Schools are no better nor worse than other schools in the country, but black students have "a lot of catching up" to do, Superintendent of Public Schools John Carroll told the Belle Glade Rotary Club Tuesday.

Testing has shown, said Dr. Carter, that white students at the two local high schools scored as well or better than white students in other county schools in the Functional Literacy Test and black students at GCHS and PHS scored as well as other blacks county-wide.

Dr. Carroll and Dick Berryman, superintendent of the West Area school district, appeared at the Rotarians' meeting in response to an earlier program critical of public education given by local teacher Sam Lowell.

Through graphs and charts, Dr. Carroll showed the Rotarians how the educational level had increased over the past five years.

Contractor permits may be changed

BELLE GLADE - The city's method of permitting special contractors could be changed in the near future as a result of a complaint during Monday night's regular meeting of the city commission that the existing method allows qualified persons to work on residences.

Wayne Carter, owner of Carter Electric Co., said the city now has no way of ensuring electrical, plumbing, roofing, air conditioning and other contractors who do work here are qualified.

City Building Inspector Kenneth Retterer went a step further in agreeing with Carter that something needs to be done when he told the commissioners there are now no licensed refrigeration or air conditioning contractors in the city.

Carter agreed, saying the only problem is that contractors when they have air conditioning or refrigeration work done now is the reputation of the person doing the work.

Under the city's present system, a building permit is issued to the general contractor and specialty contractors, such as electrical and plumbing, who are permitted to do work here.

Carter said he would rather see the form of system used in Palm Beach County, under which the specialty contractor must also show his qualifications and license and is assigned to the building permit issued by the general contractor rather than use the general contractor's license.

Carter began a little more paperwork. "I mean a little more paperwork," Carter said. "On the revenue from the system will more than offset the extra cost."

Carter went on to say that while he and other licensed contractors in the city would definitely benefit from the tighter restrictions, those restrictions would also benefit the city's population as a whole.

He told how he has seen men he has let go for their ineptness doing jobs for various people in town, presumably because they quoted lower prices. He said damages which could have been avoided would probably have to be absorbed by the customer while licensed and certified contractors are required to be insured.

"I don't even believe home insurance covers damages when work has been done by an unlicensed contractor," he said.

Retterer told the commissioners he had been in touch with one local contractor who is opposed to Carter's suggestion and the commissioners directed Retterer and City Manager Robert Sanders to meet with interested contractors at 8 p.m. May 10 in the commission chambers at city hall.

After that discussion, Retterer is to get back to the commission with a recommendation.

West Tech Center building to begin in June

BELLE GLADE - A request for additional funding for the proposed West Technical Education Center at SR715 and Hooker Highway is being made to the State Board of Education Tuesday and Palm Beach County School Superintendent John Carroll said construction is due to begin in June.

The additional funding is being made by the county school board after bids $1.19 million more than estimated were received. Carroll said $33,000 of that is for a child care center not allowed under state regulations and which the county will have to fund.

Noting the contractors' bids expire May 11, Carroll said the recommendation is to accept Gold Coast Construction's bid of $1.04 million for the groundwork and Vincent P. Fazio for the lowest bid of $1.79 million for the actual construction.

The entire construction cost, including the $33,000 child care center, comes to $5.98 million, Carroll said.

Dimes dance is Saturday

BELLE GLADE-A Country and Western-Bluegrass dance featuring the music of two bands will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Glades Correctional Institution Club behind the Palm Beach County Glades Office Building on US444.

James Huggins, Glades coordinator for the March of Dimes, said the proceeds from the dance will go to the charity as a follow-up to the Sixth Annual March of Dimes Walkathon held April 1.

Huggins said the music will be provided by the Sweetwater Band from Port St. Lucie and Plantation Bluegrass from Plantation. Tickets are priced at $5 per couple or $3 for singles. Hamburgers, hot dogs and soft drinks are available at the dance.

Fest name being sought

BELLE GLADE-The city and the committee that coordinated Belle Glade's 50th anniversary celebration April 8 have decided, based on public input, it should become the basis for an annual festival but are re-looking to the public for a name.

The City Commission approved a request Monday night to authorize the members of the city

mandated the annual celebration.

In two meetings, the commissioners decided to make the festival an annual event and to sponsor it, keeping the same slate of officers with Secretary Mary Orsenigo doubling as treasurer for the time being.

In effect, since the Bicentennial Committee formed last year will continue serving on the Bicentennial Committee while forming a separate committee to oversee and coordinate the annual celebration.

Although the city commission agreed to authorize the celebration committee, it is remaining nameless until a name can be selected. That selection is expected to be made May 25 at the next committee meeting after considering proposals submitted during a public contest which began Monday night after the commission approved the idea.

Contest blanks are being published this week and for the next two weeks in local newspapers and also available at the reception desk in the city hall. The deadline for the entries to be returned to the city hall is May 24.

Besides space for suggesting a name for the festival and committee, the blanks also have space for input on what the public liked best about the events during the 50th anniversary celebration, what form the annual event should take and what those celebrations should include.

2. What name would you suggest to signify a annual spring festival or celebration, of community spirit, uniting the community through activities of culture and recreation?

3. What type of events would you suggest be included in such a community celebration?

THE END looked like it was never gonna make it Monday night but along about midnight, Deborah Altman, one of the last holdouts at the Belle Glade Commission meeting, let hubby, Mayor Tom and his conferees know the witching hour was near and she and Ace were ready to go. Besides, the janitor had just put out the word he was closing up shop and flicking off the lights in ten more minutes.

This newspaper has often been critical of the public educational system in the Glades and elsewhere. It's not because we like to be critical, but because we feel there is a real need to point out the problems and try to make people aware something should be done.

A series of stories in this week's Herald and a story last week point out the results of the problems in the schools today.

Last week, Glades Correctional Institute Supervisor Robert Turner noted there were 20 open positions for correctional officers and a recruiting drive has been started to fill the positions. He said applicants must pass an exam much like the infamous APL in order to be considered and two of five flunk it. Turner said the test is a "common sense exam" and personnel director Jones said it indicated that if a person can't read well enough to get through the test "we can't use an officer who can't read his assignment sheet."

Then this week, we're reporting on two Belle Glade Rotary programs, the first of which took place several weeks ago. Sam Lovell, a public school teacher and outspoken critic of today's form of education, made some telling points when he asked Rotarians businessmen if they have trouble getting workers.

The results were as expected. To further point this out, this newspaper receives an average of two applications a week. Some are well qualified and in reviewing the applications, theirs stand out like beacons of light.

The majority of applications cannot be deciphered. Here's few choice examples. One lady said her father is a "self imploy" person. Another notes she's been working for a newspaper because "I like very much meeting new faces." and get to them better."

The choicest one of the lot came from a former teacher's aide who had been paid $190 every two weeks but lost the job because "The program that I worked for they had to cut their budget."

Those are exactly as they appear on the applications for employment. And these people applied for a job on a business that must, by its very nature, demand a degree of education.

Thank God for the Functional Literacy Test. If nothing else, it showed for sure and certain just how bad the problem really is. And it really bad.

Mathematics has always been a sore point for me. It's always been my weak suit. Yet I took the Funky Lit and breezed through the math. It just wasn't that hard. The questions asked were those we use every day... how to make change, figuring out time worked or travel ed. etc.

If a student can't pass it, he doesn't deserve a high school diploma. It's as simple as that. If he can't pass it, he really can't expect to function as an adult in today's society.

Years gone by, the first thing an employer looked for in a job application was a high school diploma. Now employers take the attitude, "so what?" So what if you've got your diploma. It means absolutely nothing!

Social promotion has been done partly because "a student would feel bad" if he's held back while his age group advances. Big deal! It's better that he find out in school he can't function than as an adult where it really counts.

It's time educational systems, both public and private, got back to the ball. If a student is disruptive, then the solution is simple... get rid of him. If he can't do the work, then hold him back until he either can or it's entirely evident he can't or won't.

If he can't, then he can be put into a program that will help make him a productive member of society. If he won't, then it's time in passing him on just to get rid of him. And giving him a high school diploma that lowers the diploma's status to its present level.

As an employer, I know everybody can't go to college. But when somebody applies for a job, I'd like to know if he has a diploma he'll at least have earned it.

Repulse these invasions

With all the sound and fury across the nation about the FBI's alleged use of wiretaps without warrants, it's no comfort at all to realize we don't have to leave the county to see similar invasions of privacy.

We didn't even have to leave the office to find people who've had their privacy violated over the past week in particularly obnoxious fashions.

Fashion is an appropriate word for one of those instances. One of our staff staffers told us she'd gone shopping in West Palm Beach and she noticed Big Brother watching in the form of one of those automated cameras... in the women's dressing room.

The other incident was even closer to home and involved a local woman who has commented for some time about a Florida Highway Patrol trooper who seemed to be shadowing her on the road and on Belle Glade and Pahokee streets.

Last week, he called her on the telephone, identified himself as the trooper who'd been following her and admitted he'd gotten her name by running her automobile registration number through the NCIC computer in Tallahassee.

The natural tendency is to grimly admire a guy who goes to that much trouble when he's interested in a girl but it doesn't take a second thought to realize it isn't all that funny.

Privacy is a right so fundamental it wasn't even included in the Bill of Rights when the Constitution was drawn up and things are grim when department stores use cameras where women, or men for that matter, undress and when a keeper of the law uses his prerogatives to satisfy personal curiosity or promote his love life.

It is a fact we can recognize that much of the piffling done in department stores today, and there is a tremendous amount of theft all the customers pay for through higher prices, is done in dressing rooms when a customer tries on a swim suit, puts his or her outer clothing on over it and walks out.

There's no doubt the store introduced the cameras strictly as a security measure but there should be a better way to discourage thieves.

One such way is already being used by another department store in West Palm Beach. The answer used by this store is to post an employee outside the dressing room door to check off the items being carried into the room and those coming out.

The simple fact of a camera in a dressing room is an abuse of the right of privacy and the ways that cameras could be exploited are as endless as they are fascinating and horrifying.

The fact the camera is being used to photograph nude or partially dressed women is obnoxious enough but the other ramifications can be compressed into one question. Who will watch the watchers?

A person's privacy is a precious commodity and perhaps the most disturbing thing about the two incidents cited here is

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

The perils of moving away from one's own neighborhood were forcibly brought to my attention the other day when I received a letter from the northern hinterlands, spotted with stinks chemical smells later revealed to be from tears.

Dear Crumb:

We have survived the winter and are trying to endure the spring. After five days of nice good weather all of a sudden could be too much of a shock to my system. That has been taken care of. One day will be sunny and mild and the next cold and wet, with a few tornadoes thrown in for effect.

I am not writing to complain about the weather, however.

An old adage goes something along these lines. In the spring a young man's fancy turns to amorous endeavors. Not up here. They all plant gardens. This accounts for the zero population trend in the north. What can one expect from the people who still think baseball is the national pastime?

At any rate (when in Rome...) I set about to plant a garden. I repaired to the local hardware store to purchase seeds for my garden. We found both distressed and confused in the seed aisle.

The packets of seeds were pretty much picked over. It was difficult to find such leguminous items as carrots, cabbage, squash and the like. But, lo and behold, sitting untouched in their slot in the rack were packets of collard greens.

I was dumbfounded. This realization struck me like a bolt of lightning. Yankees don't eat collards!

I had never taken this into account when I moved up here. I thought I need only get accustomed to the weather. I was wrong.

But only do I have to import grits out of Kentucky but I also have bottled sulphur water shipped in from Alabama and I call "Dial-A-Cent" daily to hear a southern voice. But, my Lord, these people don't know anything about collards.

It is even more distressing when I read the collard seed packet and it said, "Use before 1973."

I immediately began a campaign to acquaint my neighbors with the virtues of the noble collard. I told them how delicious they taste when cooked with a slat of sowbelly. I preached on the value of collards in keeping one regular. I cried when I explained the residual advantages of pot liquor and crackling corn bread. I told them how, when the time comes, they will be had and money scarce, collards will be used as an exchange medium. How a bunch of collards was good at the grocery store for a bag of rice or a barlow pocket knife.

It fell on deaf ears. They asked such questions as, "How do they eat salads with blue cheese dressing?" and "Can they be used to garnish a tuna sandwich?" and "What would they do to an anchovie pizza?"

On the ignorance of these poor underprivileged people! Send for Africa when their time is wasted in this on our own continent. His eyes over there counting Culans when he should be touting collards.

I have decided, in light of their ignorance of the subject at hand, that I will not try to force collards down their throats. Obviously they are not familiar with the preparation of the record collard. There's no way I want one of my Yankees to stop in Glades and ask for a hamburger with mayonnaise, pickle and collard. It would be safe to walk around Tel Aviv with a Yasir Arafat Fan Club T-shirt on.

The only good that has come out of this is that since the collards weren't selling, I purchased them at a substantial discount. I am fraught with feelings of guilt that I have profited from the ignorance of others.

I won't last, though. My anguish will be halted shortly after my first serving of greens.

As soon as it is dark tonight, I intend to plant those seeds behind the shrubbery around the house. I will be a persistent harlot of leg-is-lating against things they don't understand and I have no intention of doing a two-to-seven stretch for possession of collards.

Yours truly,

R.D. Sante

Resident charged in drug case

INDIANTOWN-The Martin County Sheriff's Department arrested Frank J. Brady, a local farmer and former general manager of Pahokee Produce Inc. (P.P.I.) and four Miami men in Indiantown last Saturday, April 22, for possession of marijuana and conspiracy to commit a felony.

Sixty kilograms, or 1,400 pounds of marijuana, was found being unloaded from a twin engine Cessna plane onto a 1977 Scout International truck at the Brady Ranch on SR 710.

According to Captain Morgan Sudd, the ranch airport had been under surveillance for a couple of months.

On Friday Sheriff officials were notified by the Drug Enforcement Administration and the Palm Beach County Sheriff's office that a twin engine plane would be landing on Brady's airstrip. The strip was staked-out but the plane didn't land.

On Saturday the stakeout was still continuing. At 9:32 p.m. the twin engine Cessna plane landed at the ranch. After the suspects loaded Brady's truck, deputies raided the airstrip.

Brady, 45, who lives on Hatcher Rd. between Pahokee and Belle Glade, Philip Eckerd, 34, and Robert Gallina, 29, both of Miami, were charged with possession of marijuana, over 100 pounds. The latter two were in the plane and Brady was already on the ranch before the plane landed. Hermogenes Manuel, 33, and David List, 31, both of Miami, arrived at the airstrip in trucks shortly after the plane landed and were charged with conspiracy to commit a felony. They have been released on $50,000. bond.

OUTSTANDING TEACHERS from four schools in the Belle Glade area were honored last Thursday at a luncheon sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club, receiving certificates from Steve Hodacheck, middle, rear row. The teachers were chosen by their fellow faculty members.

WEE CARE client Michell Gilmore busies herself with a puzzle after her nap but playmate Gary Rolle was more interested in the stranger with the odd-looking box and the bright lights.

Wee Care drive starts

BELLE GLADE — Wee Care, Inc. began Sunday its annual fund raising drive to finance the day care center which now cares for 110 children while their parents are working during the day.

Fund drive chairman Betty Cor森 and Joe Perry said the center is looking for a total of $7,276 from local sources to match with funds from the state and federal governments for a total annual budget of $10,000.

Of that amount, Mrs. Cor森 said 75 percent is to be provided by the federal government and 12.5 percent by the State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, leaving another 12.5 percent, or $20,276.44, to be gathered locally.

Of that, she said United Way is expected to provide $8,000 and the City of Belle Glade has been providing $5,000 a year.

Mrs. Cor森 said Charles Roessing of Quaker Oats, another board member, has been making many requests for donations to local residents and businesses.

Wee Care is once again using the services of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce as a collection point. Mrs. Cor森 said, and anyone wishing to make a donation can do so there.

Wee Care opens at 6:30 a.m. and the children can be kept by the center until 6 p.m., although some are picked up earlier by their parents.

Two hot meals and an "afternoon filler" are provided the children during the day and there is both an educational and a health program provided as part of the center's services in caring for the children and preparing them for their first year in school.

The age level at the center ranges from two to five years, Mrs. Cor森 said, and there is a waiting list of 60 children, about the average.

Of the children cared for, the parents pay fees for some 20 percent, ranging on a sliding scale from three cents to $2.40 a day, according to the parents' ability to pay, and 80 percent of the children receive fee-free care.

Christian Comments

Pray Without Ceasing—Who can do this? How can one do it who is surrounded by the cares of daily life? How can a mother love her child without ceasing? How can the eyelid without ceasing hold ready to protect the eye? How can a man stand and feel no hear without ceasing? Because all these are the functions of a healthy, natural life. And so, if the spiritual life be healthy, under the full power of the Holy Spirit, praying without ceasing will be natural.

With a Christian—Does it refer to continual acts of prayer, in which we are to persevere till we obtain, or to the spirit of prayerfulness that should animate us all the day? It includes both. The example of our Lord Jesus Christ is ours. We have to enter our closets for special seasons of prayer; we are at times to persevere there in impulsive prayer. We are also all the day to walk in God's presence, with the whole heart set upon heavenly things. Without set times of prayer, the spirit of prayer will be dull and feeble. Without the continual prayerfulness, the set times will not avail.

Pray Without Ceasing—Does that refer to prayer for ourselves or others? To both. It is because many confine it to themselves that they fail so in practicing it. It is only when the branch gives itself to bear fruit, more fruit, much fruit, that it can live a healthy life, and expect a rich inflow of sap.

The death of Christ brought Him into your life, and through everlasting intercession. Your death sets you free from the care of self, and elevates you to the dignity of intercessor—one who can give life and blessing from God for others. Know your calling: begin with your work. Give yourself wholly to it, and before you know it you will be finding something of this "Praying always" within you.

Pray Without Ceasing—How can I learn it? The best way of learning to do a thing—in fact the only way—is to do it. Begin by setting apart some time every day for prayer. Fifteen minutes, in which you say to God, "I belong to you, and you belong to yourself, that you come to Him now as an intercessor for others. If you cannot secure the same morning or evening prayer, or any other time, if you cannot secure the same time every day, do not be troubled. Only see that you do your work. Christ chose you, and appointed you to pray for others.

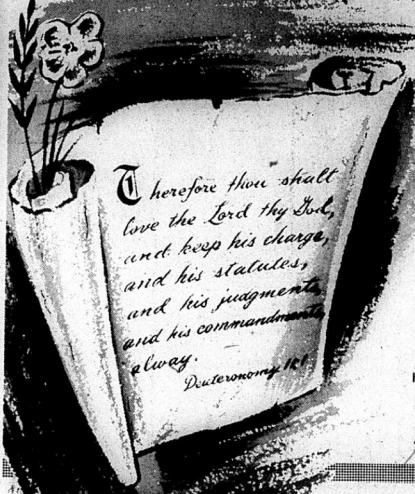

If at first you do not feel any special urgency or faith or power in your prayers, do not let that hinder you. Quietly tell your Lord Jesus Christ your feebleness: believing in the Holy Spirit to help you to teach you to pray, and be assured that, if you begin, God will help you. God cannot help you unless you begin and keep on.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mr. Merrill Powell wish to thank their neighbors and friends for the many expressions of concern and love during his extended illness, and for the sympathy and prayers in our loss.

To all those who called, visited, sent cards, to those who sent flowers, bought food and to all who attended the memorial service, we say "Thank you."

May God bless you,
Katherine Powell and family.

The greatest commandment is that we should love our God. This is a free choice that man has, but it is God's desire that all would seek Him. He is our heavenly Father, and desires only the best for us.

ATTEND CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Beta Sigma plans 47th anniversary

BELLE GLADE—Beta Sigma Phi a social, cultural and service organization, is celebrating its 47th anniversary of its founding.

Beta Sigma Phi is the largest women's sorority in the world. Celebrations will take place in the 24 countries in which the organization's 250,000 members are over 12,000 chapters exist. The organization is non-academic, non-political and non-sectarian. The keynote to Beta Sigma Phi is friendship.

Chapters of five different degrees meet the growing needs of various age groups. Members are active in many other groups. Each chapter adapts the plan for social, civic, and service and cultural activities to fit the interests of its members.

When Beta Sigma Phi events or civic endeavors are larger than one chapter can plan alone, all chapters in the city of Bells may combine their strength. These are state conventions each year which any member may attend.

Internationally, the chapters have created several special funds: The International Loan Fund, which helps individual members; The International Endowment Fund, which has donated over one million dollars to cancer research, cystic fibrosis, homes for underprivileged children, and many other causes; the Exemplar Fund, which helps to support Literacy Village of India and a college scholarship fund for members or their sons or daughters.

Local chapters support such outstanding projects as ARC (Assoc. for Retarded Citizens) and the March of Dimes.

The Founder's Day celebration on April 29 at Ringland Hall, St. John's Episcopal Church marks the 47th anniversary of the founding. The organization was founded in Abilene, Kansas, by Mr. Walter W. Ross. The anniversary will be observed by the first chapter in Belle Glade and by all other chapters around the world.

Cindy Baez is serving as chairman of the Founder's Day activities. The toastmistress for the evening is Glennie Davis.

Miss Baez has been selected for the honor of presenting a special message from the president. She has received the message from the International office in Kansas City, Missouri. Awards will be presented to local members and outstanding members will be recognized.

PALM BEACH COUNTY'S OLDEST SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION

MENTAL HEALTH MONTH was proclaimed Monday in Belle Glade by Mayor Tom Altman as Palm Beach County Mental Health Center Glades Steering Committee member Don Flehs looks on. The center is sponsoring its annual arts and crafts day Saturday at the Pahokee Lion's Club under the sponsorship of the Pahokee Woman's Club.

BPW attends meeting

Members of Business and Professional Women's Clubs from ten clubs in the area attended the District Installation on Sunday, April 16, in Clewiston.

Mrs. Mary Jim Everidge, State Federation Recording Secretary was the installation speaker. She told members about career advancement, stating "So long as we strive to seek more knowledge, improve our personality, and have good social ability, we cannot help but advance ourselves."

She urged members to make better use of BPW's Individual Development Plan, even in a partial form, as a continuing program to help benefit members as individuals with their career advancement. Sharing career experiences with others and attending seminars in one's chosen field were also cited as tools to help women's careers advance.

Mrs. Everidge has been an active member of BPW for more than ten years and has made several career changes herself. She has been a teacher, program director at a radio station, manager of a branch office of the Hillsborough County Tax Assessor's office, and is currently Community Activities Coordinator for Hillsborough County's Department of Children's Services.

Baseball fans assured of park

BELLE GLADE — The City Commission assured baseball devotees Monday night they haven't given up on the idea of building a softball field park but said there wasn't sufficient space at the Lake Shore Recreational Park for a baseball field.

Eddie Rhodes, J.T. McCoy and Ollie Davis were emphatic in their request for a baseball field and Davis said he felt that if one isn't built this year, it probably won't be built for another 35 to 40 years.

Mayor Tom Altman assured the three the commission has no plans of forgetting about building baseball facilities but added there is more need for two softball fields at the Lake Shore park.

Davis said he has lived in Belle Glade since 1940 and has played baseball all since 1943 and the city has never had a facility that those who want to play must play elsewhere.

"I have to give credit to the Gents Club," he said, "for getting up interest in softball but I don't think they should be selfish and get four softball fields when there isn't a place to play baseball."

Rhodes suggested the city might cooperate with the county schools and get softball facilities on school grounds but when Altman countered his idea with a proposal that the baseball fields at local schools could be used for that purpose instead, Rhodes said he didn't believe it was the responsibility of the schools to provide city recreational facilities.

In other business, the commission:

- Accepted on the first reading two ordinances providing for development fees to be paid for water and sewer connections in future housing developments. The fees will be paid when the connections are made or at the time the building permit is issued and the building is to be serviced by the city, whichever happens first.

- According to the ordinance, sewer fees would be $250 per house and the water development fee would start at $150 and range upwards. Other fees for other purposes will be built into the ordinances. The development fees would be over and above the tapping fees now being charged.

- Approved an application for $50,000 in county matching funds to begin construction of a 14 acre recreational park at the Belle Glade Airport.

- Approved a citywide civil defense plan.

- Approved on the first reading an ordinance providing for national flood insurance for the city.

WALTER YATES views the water tank enclosed in a large box outside of his home. The tank is only part of the total dual water-air solar furnace which Yates built.

Solar heaters to be open for inspection

CANAL POINT — May 3rd, Wednesday, is Sun-Day throughout the nation and Walter Yates of Canal Point will have his solar heating units available for inspection and explanation that day.

Yates builds the units at his home, on Highway 41. His mailbox bears the number 146 S.R. for those who wish to visit and view his constructions. His home is located past Canal Point.

Though he builds singular solar water heaters, Yates' newest breakthrough is a dual water heater system which he installed in his own home. The system circulates air drawn from inside the home through a furnace located outside. It then channels back into the home in the form of hot air; thus a solar heater.

The solar part of the furnace comes from a solar panel located atop the box outside which houses a water tank. Heat is radiated inside the large insulated box and sent back into the home through a blower system, Yates explained.

The system also provides Yates and his wife with 80 gallons of hot water per day. With the dual system, he has discontinued use of a single conventional water heater they once had in use.

For maximum efficiency, Yates also uses his conventional type water heater in conjunction with the solar heater. A time clock set to go on at 10 a.m. and shut off at 3 p.m. daily, provides the sufficient 80 gallons of hot water, Yates said.

Inside, the boxed housing for the furnace is 8 ft. X 5 ft. X 5 ft. and the solar panel if 4 ft. X 8 ft.

Yates said he would be at his home throughout the day, Wednesday for those wishing to stop by and see his work. He will build solar heaters to order, and explains the entire system in detail.

Profiles in Business

BELLE GLADE — James Conway is the owner of James F. Conway Real Estate located 925 S.E. Second St. in Belle Glade. A native of Indiana, Conway has lived in this area for over twenty-five years. He likes the area and the hospitable and friendly people that have made it what it is today. He was married in South Bay at the Baptist Church to Dot and they have three children, Mike, presently attending Florida Technological University, David, a student at Stetson and Cindy a senior at Christian Day School.

Before starting his own real estate business, Conway was employed with another broker. He has always wanted to own his own business and the opportunity arose when he realized that he enjoyed the real estate business. A year and a half ago he applied for his broker's license and passed the examination. Since all his friends knew him by Jim, instead of James, he had to file a notice of intention to register fictitious name in order to have his real estate under the name of Jim Conway. A week after filing, he received a letter saying that there was another broker in the state of Florida using the fictitious name of Jim Conway was very much in the same business so he decided to sell if for J.F. Conway Real Estate. "Since then all the friends that use to call me Jim are calling me James," he said. He principally has worked with residential properties, and some small commercial ones. Since he started his business people have been very good to him and it has been a great move.

Conway enjoys playing golf, he is a member of the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade and of the Lions International.

Students interview Booth

BELLE GLADE—Students in the eighth grade history class of Gary Sturm at Lake Shore Middle School learned a lesson in responsibility Friday when they interviewed the "ghost" of John Wilkes Booth, student Abraham Lincoln's assassin.

The interview of Booth capped a week of school-wide stress on responsibility and communications teacher Mike Dinken breathed life

Body recovered from lake

BELLE GLADE—The body of a Pahokee man who drowned Saturday was recovered Sunday from the waters of the Rim Canal after Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department divers searched unsuccessfully until after dark Saturday evening.

The body of Willie James Smith, Jr., 46, of 891 Palm Blvd. in Pahokee, was recovered about 14 feet of water by SPC David Stees and Auxiliaryman J.D. Brooks, who were dragging the area with into the 19th Century actor as, dressed in the checkered trousers, jacket and Ascot fashionable in the 1860's, he gave the students an insight into the times and life of Booth.

He told how Booth was one of the five panel members, who later in the class, as a whole, as springboards for discourses on Booth, the Antebellum South, acting during the times and life in grappling hooks.

Smith was with three other youths when he slipped off some pilings near the Rim Canal Bridge and slipped from sight after clinging to a floating log.

Rescue attempts were reportedly made by the three; John Allen, 15, of 516 SW Seventh St., Dennis Goff, 16, of 517 SW 11th St. and Joseph Jones, 14 of 616 SW Ave. C, but deputies said the current was too strong.

Smith was a non-swimmer.

general, speaking in the rolling language of Sir Walter Scott used at the time.

He told how Booth was one of 13 illegitimate children of one of the greatest stage actors of the 19th century, was of Spanish descent, Jewish and quite wealthy before he turned 26, his age when he shot Lincoln.

"At the time of my death," he said, "my wardrobe was worth $200 and it was sold in the streets."

Dinken said he chose the character of Booth both because Booth is too often portrayed as a one-dimensional character and to teach the students responsibility, in this case the objective interview of an unpopular historical character.

The communications teacher said he majored in drama at the University of Miami. In previous experience at Lake Shore, he portrayed one of the Stans Poets of Germany.

Stamp program clarified

The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services wants you to understand the elimination of the purchase requirement for food stamps. When the new food stamp program begins, food stamp recipients will be receiving BONUS COUPONS ONLY.

The amount of bonus coupons for each household will be determined by subtracting the household's purchase price from the total coupon allotment authorized to their household size. For example, if a household of four now pays $71 for $174 in food stamps under the new law they would receive $103 in food stamps at no cost.

FOUR OF THE VOLUNTEERS who gave of their time to solicit donations during the Arthritis Telethon Sunday were, left to right, Diane Stevens, Barbara Clark, Sandra Rodgers and Glenda Goodson. The local drive was operated out of the Bank of Pahokee.

$3,605 raised locally for arthritis

PAHOKEE—Volunteers operating out of the Bank of Pahokee were able to raise $3,605 during the Arthritis Telethon which was televised on Channel 6 through the St. Petersburg station Sunday, 12 noon until 12 midnight.

According to local coordinator Barbara Clark, the Pahokee station, serving Pahokee, Canal Point, South Bay and Clewiston, raised more money than many larger cities. The total amount raised by the entire state of Florida was $149,000.

Mrs. Clark's sister, Frances Pink also of Pahokee, traveled to Miami to represent the Glades. She was shown on Channel 6 announcing names of Glades residents who had pledged money for the cause. She has had arthritis for five years while Mrs. Clark has had it for 20 years. Mrs. Clark goes into Good Samaritan Hospital Monday for her tenth arthritis operation.

Last year, the Bank of Pahokee was also the local telethon center, when Mrs. Clark served her first year as local coordinator. Over $1000 was raised last year.

Mrs. Clark said credit and thanks should be extended to the producers—Rupert Mock, assistant vice president, and Gillis and assistant cashier Naomi Sanders. Also Leon "Shorty" Ricks was on hand throughout the telethon offering his assistance.

Members of the Pahokee chapter of Beta Omicron Sorority were on the telephones answering and soliciting donations. Among those who helped were Mrs. Goodson, who was there for the entire 12 hours, Twila York who came from Lakoxathee, Connie Butler, Sandy Maynor, Dottie Elliott and Linda Moss.

Others who assisted and stayed for the entire 12 hour period were Brenda Hooks, Diane Stevens, Sandra Rodgers, Shirley Griffin, Terri Collier, Paula Gayle Buckner and Diane Kennedy.

venues such as Founder's Day Pioneers Day and the Belle Glade Spring Festival. While the committee hasn't committed itself to choosing a name from the entries which will hopefully be made, the public input is being sought to come up with original and unique ideas such as the LaBelle Swamp Cabbage Festival, Moon Festival, etc.

The name which it's chosen, will hopefully reflect some unique nature of the Belle Glade area as well as the thrust of the celebration.

But if the questions of whether there should be a celebration and whether the city should help pay for it were settled quickly, several other questions besides the name of the celebration were left hanging.

Left unanswered were questions about who, if anyone, would be sanctioned by the committee to sponsor projects, although the feeling seemed to be that question should be decided on an individual basis as the need arises.

The machinery for providing a method of succession of committee membership was discussed, but not decided as yet. Other questions, although Dr. Robert Allen suggested the committee, or sub-committee, travel to other cities which have annual festivals to get more information.

Also left unanswered was the question about the budget for the committee and how the city would go about paying our funds. It was proposed by the committee, Mayor Tom Alman and City Manager Robert R. Sanders were asked to have the administration come up with suggestions.

During the meeting, Sanders submitted a report indicating that the $3,500 approved for the celebration by the city commissioners, amounting to $1,000 less, was although he had tentatively included a new stage curtain which was used during the going show and skit which committee members said shouldn't have been included.

Helping to offset the expenses were $504 taken in during the going show and skit and said which committee members said shouldn't have been included.

JOHN WILKES BOOTH wasn't playing Hamlet but eighth grade history students at Lake Shore Middle School became personally acquainted with him Friday when Mike Dinken played the role of Lincoln's assassin.

Students interview Booth

BELLE GLADE—Students in the eighth grade history class of Gary Sturm at Lake Shore Middle School learned a lesson in responsibility Friday when they interviewed the "ghost" of John Wilkes Booth, President Abraham Lincoln's assassin.

The interview of Booth capped a week of school-wide stress on responsibility and communications teacher Mike Dinken breathed life into the 19th Century actor as, dressed in the checkered trousers, jacket and Ascot fashionable in the 1860's, he gave the students an insight into the times and life of Booth, the man.

Directed questions posed by the five panel members later in the class as a whole, sprangboards for discussions on Booth, the Antebellum South, acting during the times and life in general, speaking in the rolling language of Sir Walter Scott used at the time.

He told how Booth was one of 13 illegitimate children of one of the greatest stage actors of the 19th century, was of Spanish descent, Jewish and quite wealthy before he became a shirker, 26, his age when he shot Lincoln.

"At the time of my death," he said, "my wardrobe was worth $20,000 and it was sold in the streets."

Dinken said he chose the character of Booth both because Booth is too often portrayed as a one-dimensional character and to teach the students the responsibility, this time the objective interview, of the unpopular historical character.

The communications teacher said he majored in drama at the University of Miami. In previous experience at Lake Shore, he portrayed one of the Staat Poets of Germany.

Body recovered from lake

BELLE GLADE—The body of a Pahokee man who drowned Saturday was recovered Sunday from the waters of the Rim Canal after Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department divers searched unsuccessfully until after dark Saturday evening.

The body of Will James Smith Jr., 21, of 891 Palm Blvd. in Pahokee was recovered from 14 feet of water by Sgt. David J. Stees and Auxiliaryman J.D. Brooks, who were dragging the area with grappling hooks.
